

Assignment 1

A. True or False:

1. Computers are electronic devices to store, retrieve, and process data. [True, False]
2. Computers consist of two basic parts, MS-Windows and MS-Office. [True, False]
3. Desktop computers are more powerful than Server computers. [True, False]
4. A laptop computer is sometimes called a notebook computer. [True, False]
5. Some TVs are able to connect to the internet. [True, False]
6. Apple Company introduced Windows Operating System for personal uses. [True, False]
7. We can use a computer without an Operating System. [True, False]
8. We can use a computer without Microsoft Office. [True, False]
9. Operating Systems manages all software and hardware on the computer. [True, False]
10. Microsoft word and Microsoft Excel are types of Operating Systems. [True, False]
11. Modern Operating Systems use a graphics user interface. [True, False]

B. Choose the correct answer:

1. What are the different types of computers? [Desktop, Laptop, Mini-Laptop, servers, All]
2. is the process that occurs when you press the power button. [Linking, Firing, Booting]
3. Not an Operating System. [Windows, Linux, Google Chrome, Mac, Android]
4. Computers consist of two basic parts. [Hardware and Software, Case and Monitor]
5. is a line of Operating Systems created by Apple inc. [Windows, Mac, Linux]
6., are a free Operating systems. [Mac, iOS, Linux, Windows, Android]
7. is a type of software that allows you to perform a specific task. [Operating System, Application]
8. When you have more than one application open at the same time, this is known as. [Multitasking, Booting, Context switching]
9. Which of the following we can consider as an application. [Games, MS-Office, Internet Explorer, All]
10. The is an online platform introduces services such as storage space, emailing, online document processing. [Sky, Cloud, Earth]

C. How do web applications work?

D. List three examples of an Operating System.

E. What are the differences between Mac and IBM PC? [at least three differences]