

1. (5 Points) True or False? Why?

- a. PHP is a client side language. []
- b. Web developer prefer to use PHP instead of HTML because PHP is a little faster. []
- c. PHP variable names are case sensitive. []
- d. In PHP language you must declare the variable data type before using it. []
- e. You can handle the key value in the URL (http://mysearch.com?key=sinai) with post variable. []

2. (5 points) Read the following code then answer the questions:

```
1 <!DOCTYPE html>
2 <html>
3 <head> <title>Quiz</title> </head>
4 <body>
5 .....
6 $myArray=array("a","b","c");
7 echo $myArray."";
8 print_r($myArray)."";
9 foreach($myArray as $key=>$value){
10     echo $key."&nbsp;". $value."";
11 }
12 .....
13 </body>
14 </html>
```

- a. Fill in line 5 and 12 to be able to compile the above code.
- b. What is the expected output of line 7?
Answer:
- c. What is the expected output of line 8?
Answer:
- d. What is the expected output of line 10?
Answer:
- e. Can we replace “foreach” in line 9 with “for”? If yes, modify line 10 to give the same result using “for”.
Answer: